

TRUE OR FALSE

Wanda is a story character, but there are real humpback whales living in the ocean. Use the Internet to determine if each statement is true or false.

1. Whales, porpoises, and dolphins belong to a group of marine mammals called cetaceans.	T	F
2. Humpback whales are toothless. Their jaws have baleen plates that help to filter their food.	T	F
3. There are four major populations of humpback whales: North Pacific, Atlantic, Southern Ocean, and Indian Ocean.	T	F
4. The diet of humpback whales consists mostly of krill, herring, and other small fish.	T	F
5. Humpbacks feed in their colder habitats and then migrate to warmer waters to breed and give birth.	T	F
6. There are no predators that prey on the humpback whale.	T	F
7. Only the female humpback whale is able to vocalize or "sing."	T	F
8. Male humpbacks are larger than the female humpback.	T	F
9. Humpback whales do not have a hump on their backs.	T	F
10. The tail of each humpback whale is unique.	T	F